This book reminds us that most of what we need to know is simply what we've already forgotten. John Taylor's trained eye and skilled hand celebrate details of:

- Thousand-year-old earth-sheltered houses in China
- Passive solar heating designs of the Pueblo Indians
- Natural air conditioning systems built in the Middle East.
- Modular building techniques used in Japan 500 years ago

This is a book for builders, students, and anyone seeking stimulation for the imagination. Author and architect John Taylor's exacting eye, intricate sketches, and hand-written notes are gentle reminders that observation, even more than technology, is the best source of innovation.
